SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 4—A series of earth shocks, the strongest felt here in 25 years, beginning at four o'clock this morning, damaged fully half the buildings in San Jose and caused a number of casualties.

A part of the American legation building collapsed but the American minister and his family and the American consul and his family escaped uninjured. No injury to any American resident has been reported.

Communications with neighboring cities is entirely cut off.

NEW YORK, March 4—Earthquake shocks shook Port Limon and San Jose, Costa Rica, early today, said a message received here by the All-American cables. The first quake occurred about 5 a. m. and was followed by others. The tremors were continuing at 8 o'clock.

WASHINGTON, March 4—A very severe earthquake about 2,100 miles from Washington in a southerly direction, was recorded today on the seismograph at Georgetown University. Father Tordorf, the seismologist said the shock began at 6:18 a. m. and reached the maximum intensity between 5:23 and 5:26 and were still in progress at seven o'clock.

CHICAGO, March 4—A severe earth quake, lasting approximately one hour and a half was recorded at the U. S. seismograph at the University of Chicago. They reached the maximum intensity about 4:27 a. m. and ceased about 8:30 a. m.

The distance from Chicago was 2,175 miles but the preliminary tremors were not well defined and the direction was problematical.

Out-of-Town Trips Planned for Band

Plans are being made to send the Albany-Decatur concert band on a number of out-of-town trips, by the local civic organizations that are sponsoring the band. The excellence attained by the members of the organization has encouraged Prof. Masterson, the director, greatly. He will be expected to accompany the band on the proposed trips. Two rehearsals will be given the band this week, owing to the fact no rehearsal was given last Monday night. Thursday night a rehearsal will be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

H. J. Clendenon
Dies at Home Here

Funeral services for H. J. Clendenon will be held at the family residence No. 1315 Seventh avenue, South, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with interment in the city cemetery.

The funeral services will be in charge of Rev. B. P. Collier and Rev. E. Floyd Olive.

Mr. Clendenon died this morning at 9:25 o'clock after a long illness. He was 70 years of age. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Miss Pleasant Clendenon, and Mrs. D. V. Day, both of Albany and by one son, I. S. Clendenon, of Albany.

The pallbearers are to be: J. A. Jones, Ed Farrish, Vergil Walden, Towner Patterson, Luman Patterson, and John Bryant.

MCQUARRY IS SAID TO BE LOW BIDDER

Official Award Looked For Within the Next
Ten Days or So

Another step toward completion of the Decatur-Moulton highway, connecting the county seats of Morgan and Lawrence counties, was taken at Montgomery yesterday when bids were opened for construction of a section of the highway.

McQuarry Brothers, who now have headquarters here and who have been constructing the Danville pike for Morgan County, were the lowest bidders, according to information received here this afternoon, but official award of the contract will not be sent out for several days, it is said, as is customary with the letting of construction contracts.

The amount of money involved in the contract is said to be approximately $115,000 and work is expected to get underway at an early date.

Part of State Program.

The work is a part of the state program, under the supervision of the state highway commission. Federal aid money will help pay for the construction and the state is under agreement to look after the maintenance of the highway after its completion.

It was explained here this afternoon that the section for which McQuarry Brothers and others bid contains about 5 1/2 miles and is known as projects "A" and "C". It begins near Moulton, then skips a seven mile stretch already under construction, and then comes on to the Lawrence-Morgan border line.

It is not known definitely when the commission will let the contract for finishing the road through Morgan County into the Twin Cities, but the commission has pursued the policy of connecting county seats all over the state, and now has a rule in effect which provides that no more than one project shall be under construction in a county at one time.

Completion of the Bee Line Highway was the first undertaken in Morgan County and now is being finished. The next contract to be awarded in Morgan probably will be either the Moulton pike, or the new pike which will connect Decatur with Guntersville.

Corn and Other Farm Products Are to Be Handled

A new corporation just formed here is the "Decatur Mill and Elevator Company, Incorporated."

The new concern is capitalized for $25,000 and will do a general business mostly wholesale, in grain and other farm products.

The building and machinery of the Brandon Elevator company, near the Tennessee river in Decatur, is now the property of the new concern. Also the company owns the meal mill formerly the property of the Lyle-Taylor company, a concern which was in business here some time ago.

The milling machinery of the new company, now in the Lyle-Taylor building some distance from the main elevator building will be installed, in the elevator building soon, it was stated.

Corn meal will be made at once by the company and later, stated C. W. Knight, the president, it was planned to establish a flour blending mill in close proximity to the elevator and the corn mill.

The incorporators of the new concern as the records in the office of Probate Judge L. P. Troup shows, are, C. W. Knight, J. W. Knight, D. S. Echols, R. H. Jevins and F. E. Taylor. The officers of the company are C. W. Knight, president and treasurer; F. E. Taylor, vice president; R. H. Jevins, secretary.

The large elevator building on the river to be used in husking car load lots of corn, in cleaning the corn and drying and curing it to where the corn can be shipped without danger of heating or decay, was built about 12 years ago at a cost of $14,000 by the Brandon Elevator company.

The capacity of the elevator is large and is expected to be able to take care of a large number of car loads of corn per day.

The new company proposes to establish a market here for large supplies of corn and some other farm products, C. W. Knight stated.

With the opening up of the Tennessee river to full navigation, with the completion of the locks at Wilson Dam, the new elevator company plans to greatly enlarge its business.

HILLSBORO GIRL ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY GUN IN FATHER'S HANDS

Funeral services for Miss Pearl Norwood, 19, are announced to occur at the family residence near Hillsboro, Lawrence county, this afternoon, with interment at the Mitchell cemetery.

Reports from Hillsboro state that Miss Norwood lost her life Sunday afternoon as the result of the accidental discharge of a shot gun as held in the hands of her father, William Norwood, a farmer living near Hillsboro.

John R. Sherill, of Hillsboro, stated today that on Sunday afternoon William Norwood took down the ill fated shot gun, which he had borrowed, and was planning to take the gun to its owner.

It was reported no shell was in the gun at first, but that Norwood placed one in it, and that when he gun was breached it went off, the shots taking effect in the right side of the head of the girl, killing her almost instantly. Her last words are said to have been, "Oh, Papa."

Former Secretary of the Oil Probe

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 4—A story to the effect that Attorney General Daugherty went to the race track with Harry F. Sinclair and bet money for cabinet members, was told to the Senate today by Senator Heflin, democrat, of Alabama.

WASHINGTON, March 4—Mrs. Mary Duckstein, formerly secretary to William J. Burns, confirmed on the witness stand today that Edward B. McLean, publisher of The Washington Post, was a special agent of the department of justice.

WASHINGTON, March 4—Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, chief prosecutor in the oil inquiry, refused in December to enter into an oil transaction with E. L. Doheny.

"It might be squeamishness on my part," Senator Walsh told Doheny, but he could not use his official position for profit.

Senator Walsh said the purpose of the negotiations apparently was to hamper the work of the oil committee.

Telegrams put into the record of the oil committee showed today that after Walsh had forwarded to Doheny a suggestion from a constituent as to the development of the Montana oil field, Doheny suggested that Walsh or his brother go to Los Angeles and consult about it.

Senator Walsh replied "that the suggestion was most alluring but said he could not accept because leasing negotiations with the government would be necessary.

Bombshells Exploded

There was another series of bomb explosions today in the oil scandal.

Here are some of the things the oil committee was told when it resumed its hearings:

E. L. Doheny unsuccessfully tried last December to interest Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief prosecutor of the oil inquiry in an oil venture in Montana.

The senator replied that he would have nothing to do with an enterprise where he might appear to be using his official position for his own profit.

Edward B. McLean, publisher of The Washington Post and a central figure in the oil scandal, has been carried on the government rolls as a secret agent of the department of justice.

McLean had a copy of the department's secret code and some of the messages sent him and his employees in Florida were in a cipher once used by the government.

The testimony regarding McLean was given by William J. Burns, chief of the department's secret agents, and Mrs. Mary O. Duckstein, formerly Burns' secretary.

They both confirmed that the publisher had been enrolled on the force of the bureau of investigation.

Burns said McLean was appointed before he became director of the bureau, but added "he must have been appointed in this administration."

McLean was placed on the roll as a special agent because the department obtained information through him and his newspaper, The Washington Post, Burns testified. His salary was $1,000 a year.

ACTION BEFORE END OF WEEK PREDICTED
ON ACCEPTANCE ACT

House Today Turns Its
Attention to the
McKenzie Bill

OPPONENTS WANT
TERMS CHANGED

Two Days Probably to Be Devoted to Discussion

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 4—The house today began consideration of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals. A resolution was adopted, giving right of way to the McKenzie bill, which would authorize acceptance of the bill, with general debate limited to ten hours.

This action, taken after an hour's discussion, leaders agreed, assures a house vote before the end of the week on the Ford offer, which has been pending before congressional committees for several years.

Resolution Passed.

A resolution to give the McKenzie bill right of way, was presented by Representative Burton, of Ohio, republican, on the rules committee, who announced his opposition to the Ford offer.

The proposed contract with the Detroit manufacturer, he declared, violates the policy of the American government toward waterpower development. The offer of Mr. Ford he added, was nothing other than "ridiculously inadequate."

After Mr. Burton had discussed the proposition briefly, Representative Bankhead, of Alabama, democrat, on the rules committee, took the floor to argue adoption of the resolution. He declared himself heartily in favor of the Ford bill.

"I am unreservedly in favor of the unconditional acceptance of the Ford offer to the government," Mr. Bankhead said.

"Some people feel this is a sectional proposition," he added, "but as I see it, there is involved a great economic problem confronting the nation."

Bankhead Speaks.

"The truck growers of Connecticut," Mr. Bankhead said, "use three times the fertilizer of Texas and Ohio and Ohio's fertilizer bill of $12,200,000 is more than the amount paid by Alabama planters. Farmers in California's famous Imperial Valley use alfalfa valued at $35 per ton, for fertilizer."

Mr. Bankhead declared that the cheapening of the cost of fertilizer should lessen the cost of cotton and added "if New England cotton mill owners want to help Southern farmers and cotton producers, here is the opportunity to do it."

In a lengthy statement, which he read to the house, Mr. McKenzie declared it was up to congress to accept Ford's bid or reject it as it now stands.

Opposes Amendment.

An amendment to alter the terms of the contract set out in his bill, Mr. McKenzie said, would be a move to reject the whole proposal.

"We are confronted today with one of the greatest problems before our country," continued Mr. McKenzie, "shall we listen to the suggestions of selfish and interested parties and cast this whole matter into the discard with the foolish thought that by doing so we shall have made an end of the matter? Or shall we, as representatives of the people, rise to the occasion, give our approval to the proposal to relieve our government from the ever-continuing and increasing expense in connection with this subject, provide for the national defense, encourage agriculture and give up this great inland waterway as a highway for the commerce of our country?"

Mr. McKenzie stated that only two courses were open in regard to Muscle Shoals. One, government ownership.

A WHO'S WHO MAN IS COMING TO THE TWIN CITIES

The Railroad Y. M. C. A. management, in cooperation with other organizations of the cities, will bring Winfield Scott Hall here next week and give all who desire it the opportunity of hearing that distinguished man deliver a number of lectures.

It is announced that Dr. Hall will speak on: "Physical and Social Reconstruction in Home School and Church."

Certainly a rather ambitious subject, and but for the fact that the coming lecturer is a really able man, it would seem ridiculous for such a big subject to be announced.

Dr. Hall is in "Who's Who in America," and "Who's Who International," and also in the book "American Men of Science."

A. J. Casselman, M. D., chief of U. S. public health service, New Jersey department of health, says of Dr. Hall:

Dr. Hall talks on the essential problem, racial betterment and social advancement. He speaks with the intelligence of a trained and experienced physician, with the thoroughness and frankness of an expert teacher, and with the idealistic and ethical motives of a true gentleman. The biologic, sociologic and hygienic facts essential for a comprehensive discussion of social and health problems are presented in a scolastic yet thoroughly understandable manner.

Men and women interested in personal health, efficiency, happiness, racial and social betterment are invited to attend one or more lectures.

It was stated by C. J. Randolph, executive secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. that Dr. Hall will speak to the school children, to the employees of a number of industrial plants, and to the people in general during his stay in the Twin Cities.

ONCE MORE GENERAL DAWES SWINGS WORLD SENTIMENT TOWARD HONESTY

The expressed opinion of General Dawes, one of the too few Americans noted for frankness, that the French invasion of the Ruhr was all right, will have the effect of settling that question once for all with most Americans. The facts about the French occupation of the Ruhr are few in number and easily understood. The Germans owed the French a debt. The Germans refused to pay it, in effect. Considering that the Versailles treaty and the suffering sustained by France justified the seizing of certain German property in satisfaction for the debt and loss to France, soldiers of that republic camped in the Ruhr. In ordinary business among men in civil life the same kind of a thing happens when any party to an agreement fails to keep it. If a mortgage is not satisfied the property involved is "sold under the hammer."

It is a serious matter to foreclose a mortgage; but it is a more serious matter if debts are left unpaid, and plain obligations disregarded.

It was indeed a serious matter for force to be applied to Germany to make her pay. Nobody of right feeling is glad of it. But what else remained to be done?

The expression of General Dawes, that the invasion of the Ruhr was justifiable was hardly believable by those who had wrung their hands over "the crushing of a defenseless foe," so he was asked about it and is reported to have said:

"Certainly I said it. I repeat it: If the French were not in the Ruhr we experts would not be here . . . had the French not taken the Ruhr, the state of mind of both the Germans and French would be unchanged and there would have been no questions for the experts to meet."

In short, Dawes holds that force made the Fatherland listen to reason. It is claimed that the rank and file of the Germans were willing to go the limit in the effort to repay France, but that the "captains of industry" thought the debt could be beaten; just as the Fatherland military captains once thought the world would surrender. The Dawes view was taken by a leading Englishman, who says:

"Previous to the Ruhr occupation the German people were willing to pay, but the industrials refusing, the occupation of the Ruhr convinced the latter of the necessity to pay. It is the result of the French policy."

In the end, then, it appears that the English who hoped to profit by German business at the expense of German honor are defeated. It will be a source of satisfaction some time to the future citizens of Germany that the "industrials" failed in their effort to repudiate just and honest debts.

PITY, BUT NOT SYMPATHY FOR THOSE WHO SUICIDE

A writer named Valerie Belasco Martin, 25, when her stories were rejected, took poison. If the young lady had been aged 40 or had had the judgment usually credited to 40-year-old people, she would have taken to a new line of endeavor instead of taking her life.

It is said that only the wise realize that failure is not the end of everything. The ill-fated young woman did not realize the truth of the saying that happiness is a twin—disappointment and success.

Had the young writer been more modest, she would have realized that one or two more failures in a world full of them would not matter much.

Because she had not succeeded at 25 the young woman decided that life was no longer worth the living.

The writer doubtless felt that genius had passed her by, as if the power to write were only an endowment, instead of in reality an ability won by living right and working—and decided that if she could not be a genius she did not care to be at all.

Had the ambitious young woman elected to live on, she might have accumulated enough life facts and a strong enough vision of the truth, to have written something really worth while.

This practical old world looks with disfavor on any who are not willing to endure "hardness as a good soldier," or to bear the buffeting sure to come to all who undertake to write acceptably.

Persons who would commit suicide never did have sufficient reason for believing they could ever be great writers or great in any undertaking.

Speaking as charitably as possible, there can be small staying power, very little toughness of character, in a person who would kill one's self just because failure, and not success, came at the early age of 25.

The world is said to thrust angrily aside those who take time to pity themselves while on the pathway of duty. The world of people who are sincerely trying to do the work of the world do not wish the way blocked by self-admitted failures, such as the young woman who could not bear defeat at the age of 25.

Action Before End of Week Predicted on Acceptance Act

and operation in view of the character of the project, which would mean in the judgment of the majority of the military committee, not only the failure from the standpoint of income but disastrous to the hopes of farmers and other users of commercial fertilizers.

The other, to dispose of the property to a responsible bidder."

WASHINGTON, March 4—Action before the end of the week on Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals was predicted today as the house turned its attention to the McKenzie proposal for acceptance of the bid.

Two days probably will be devoted to general discussion after which the bill will be considered under the five minute rule, with amendments in order.

Opponents have indicated they will seek to have several amendments adopted, which would materially alter the terms of the proposed contract with Mr. Ford.

WASHINGTON, March 4—On the eve of consideration by the House for the McKenzie bill authorizing acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals, confidence was expressed last night by opponents of the measure that they would muster enough votes for the adoption of drastic amendments.

Representative Hull of Iowa, a republican, member of the military committee, who will lead the fight against the bill, as reported, declared that the votes were in sight to change materially the terms of the proposed contract.

Voting in the house when amendments are offered, he said, will show that representatives from rural sections are by no means a unit in favoring the Ford offer as, he added, has been claimed by some proponents of the McKenzie bill.

Two Resolutions.

When the house meets at noon today, two resolutions calling for the creation of special committees to conduct investigations—one of the shipping board, the other of the aircraft industry—will come up before the rule for consideration of the McKenzie bill is brought up.

Leaders generally predicted that not much time would be needed for disposition of the two investigation proposals and that by afternoon the way would be cleared for the Muscle Shoals question, which has been hanging fire in congress for several years.

Some discussion of the resolution giving the McKenzie bill right of way is expected particularly as to the division of time during general debate, which the rules committee believes should be limited to 10 hours.

Vote By End Of Week.

If debate gets under way today business usually in order on Wednesday would be put over and the day given over entirely to consideration of the McKenzie proposal.

However, if it is later today before an agreement as to debate on Muscle Shoals is reached, Representative Longworth, the republican leader said, discussion will be put over until Thursday.

Once it is begun, he said, no other legislation will be permitted to sidetrack it. Mr. Longworth predicted that a vote would be taken on the McKenzie bill by the end of the week, regardless of the number of amendments offered.

Mr. Hull and others opposed to acceptance of the Ford offer have announced they will make no effort to defeat the bill but will seek to have several important amendments.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains.

Ofttimes 'tis the kidneys' fault.

That's why Doan's Pills are so effective.

Many Albany women know this.

Read what one has to say about it: Mrs. I. A. Vernon, 402 Fourth Ave., W., says: "Mornings I feel just as tired, as when I had gone to bed and I was weak and achy all through my back. Just a little housework tired me completely. I became so dizzy, I staggered and had to sit down until the spell passed. My kidneys acted sluggish. I used Doan's Pills from the Prentiss-Dilliehay Drug Co., and was cured of all the suffering."

Mrs. Bird Was Thorough in Her Cross-Examination.

MY answer to Mrs. Bird's question was prompt.

"Just as we were turning in at the gate a mounted policeman passed up and slowed down rather abruptly. He did not stop, but my brother-in-law told me that he looked searchingly at our license plate."

"Did he get your number?" Mrs. Bird queried crisply.

"My brother-in-law thought so."

"Of course, he might have been looking for speeders who had escaped," she said thoughtfully.

"That's what Dr. Braithwaite said," I interposed.

"And then, again, he might not," she retorted, a trifle tartly. "Well, at any rate, I'll know by to-night whether or not there's any inquiry out for the children in police circles. I have a brother on the force. In the meantime—when does their ship sail?"

"Day after to-morrow."

She made a clicking little noise with her teeth, expressive of exasperation.

"Two long hours to wait for this sort of thing," she commented. "Any special reason for taking this particular boat?"

"Don't Misunderstand Me."

"I do not think so," I returned. "I fancy Mrs. Underwood thought it was the earliest one they could get."

"Perhaps it is," she hedged instantly—Lillian's name evidently was an effective stop to criticism—but will do no hurt to make a few inquiries, and if there should be a chance to get passage on a ship leaving to-morrow, or even to-night, I believe it would be a good thing to take it."

I suppose my face reflected my startled dismay at the unmeasurableness which I thought must lie behind her hasty to get us off, for she shot a shrewd look at me.

"Don't misunderstand me," she said. "I haven't any especial reason for fearing any interruption to your plan, but long experience in getting people out of tight places has made me wary of any unnecessary delay. Another thing: Have you anything to do—shopping, for instance—before you sail?"

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

I am a girl twenty years old. I have gone with a young man for five years and love him very much.

He tells me I am the only one for him, but he insists upon calling upon a girl friend of mine once in a while. She tells me that he tells her the very same story, but I cannot believe her as she would do anything on earth for me, I am sure.

How can I find out whether he loves me? LITTLE BETTY.

LITTLE BETTY: Until this young man formally proposes you should think of him only as a friend, my dear. You realize, of course, under these circumstances, it is his privilege to have as many friends as he chooses. Follow his example. Go out with other young men and do not devote too much thought to him. A proposal of marriage is the only real proof of love.

"Well, I don't care if I do go," I replied.

"Let's," she said, and it was settled.

We went to Gaby's apartment and cooked dinner together. "Sometimes I find cooking or any kind of domesticity most disagreeable," I remarked to Gaby as we prepared the salad. "But if you do it as a lark, it is a lot of fun."

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5.

The planetary configurations for this day point to annoyances and anxieties. The disposition may be restless and unsettled but the pulse to make important change or to travel should be subdued. Those in the employment of others should be careful not to give offense to those in authority and should safeguard their positions. Speculation or any risk of money may prove hazardous. In domestic, social or affectional matters there may be amanuence.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of annoyance and anxiety. They should postpone important moves or journeys and should safeguard their positions if in the employment of others. Let not anxiety enter the domestic circle. A child born on this day will be fond of travel and adventure and may have a rather checkered career.

WHAT A PHILOSOPHER WOULD CALL A STYLE REPERCUSSION.

MARGARET.—What a lark, Stella, to meet you here. And your hat, I can tell at a glance, came in the same shipment with mine. I think Mamselle has done as well as you have. And yours is lovely. Don't you think my little turned-up cloche is adorable? As for your sports hat, with its loops of colored straw, I think it is fascinating. Mamselle tells me that the hats are so small because skirts are getting shorter. Thus one style influences another.

WINIFRED BLACK

WRITES ABOUT

A Shopping Tour

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

THERE was a homely old saying to the effect that you must Summer and Winter with any individual before you could say that you knew his real character.

Something on this line I thought, during the Christmas shopping, is true about a woman. You cannot know her until you have seen her on a shopping expedition.

It is said that more can be told of a man by watching him at his favorite game of cards than by years of ordinary dealing with him. His strength and his weakness come out over the card table; his honesty and his guile, his endurance and his lack of nerve, all these are shown.

The Time to See Human Nature

But for the feminine examination ordeal, give me the woman on a shopping tour. There you see all the cleverness, as well as the lack of it, all of the qualities you know and many you do not know, as the woman stands before the counter or sits in the seat of judgment in the shop and makes her decisions for the credit of her toilet or that of someone else for whom she is choosing.

Who has not been hitched, like a captive of the conquerors' car, while some dear friend took her shopping? If you like it there is balm in Gilead for you. But if you lack the bargaining instinct and the love of getting the best of the world of trade; if you find the shops dull and the clerks insipid; if you get hungry at the wrong time and pray for relief only to receive the icy answer, "Wait until I have made a choice, please," woe for you and me and all who detect the very name of a bargain!

I never knew that my neighbor had a drooping, vulpine nose until I went shopping with her and saw her in her might and majesty as a bargain hunter. Yet I was glad to reap the benefit of one of her purchases when she helped me to choose a tablecloth and some other linens for the household I am responsible for.

By a sort of inspiration she chose the best in the shop and made the sales people think they knew nothing about linen after all, and for me, I was all admiration, only there was almost a fear of my clever neighbor, for all that.

She is something the same over the card table, but not with the aspect of an army with banners as she marches to the scene of her triumphs.

But a neighbor is nothing when compared to my maiden aunt from New Jersey. New York has been her school in the gentle art of shopping and a bargain is the sum and summit of her happiness.

To go out and buy what you need or want, that is not Aunt Jerusha's idea of shopping. She has to get the best and know she has got the best and have the salesman know it too in order to have a really successful shopping day.

And woe is me when I have to go with this peerless shopper. All day, with but a half hour for a cup of tea at one o'clock and miles of walking over the pavements of shops and of driving from place to place in search of something better, cheaper or more fashionable.

But one of us she always requires to go with her and the only comfort is if you go on the expedition of discovery you are excused from the secondary tour, when the goods are actually bought. So we take the turn about of fair play and our opinions of our New Jersey aunt are accordingly made.

And I will say that it is not the opinion of the Recording Angel who knows only all the good deeds.

If you must really know a woman, go shopping with her.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Things to Know in Choosing Washable Hangings.

HANGINGS in the home are always necessary and are sometimes a problem to housewives who have no interior decorator to consult and are timid about using their own taste. They are often expensive and for that reason great care should be taken in their selection.

There are a few points, however, which, if known, will keep us from making too great mistakes. A neutral color in harmony with the decorations of the room is generally safe for hangings which are to be used, cover an exposed arch that is doorless, cover a bay window or door that opens onto a porch or sun parlor, cut off the length of a room or divide a large room.

The few dishes were quickly washed, and we were on our way.

We settled down at the first rustic of the curtain, and were soon laughing delightedly at a very funny comedy.

"The clothes are stunning," Gaby whispered to me after the first act. "Which costumes did you approve most?" I asked.

"I liked the yellow outfit," she answered.

"So did I," I agreed with her.

The scene had been Florida, and the costume a stunning long, deep yellow light wool coat, worn over a frock of the same shade in crepe de chine.

"I like the costume idea," Gaby said.

"That one was so simple, and so effective because it was simple," she added.

"I liked the little covered buttons all down the front, and the fact that the coat seemed to snap beneath them, so one wouldn't have to button them up every time," I said.

"And the black satin collar and facing that showed where the coat fastened," I added.

"And the tailored black hatter's plaid hat," she whispered back, just as the curtain went up.

We were well pleased with the show, and decided we'd go to musical comedies often.

Colors that are nonfading in mercerized materials, cotton rep and other fabrics with self-colored patterns like those of damask, are popular especially when they are exposed to sunlight. These materials will wash if salt is added to warm water. White soap should be used. Rinse the material well and then allow it to drip dry in the shade instead of wringing it. The latter process breaks and twists threads and spoils the goods.

Closet nap plush of good quality makes good hangings which wear especially well if the colors chosen do not fade. Old blue is good, for it seems to grow softer in coloring as it fades, and it does not streak badly in the folds. Dark brown and very dark green are also good in this material.

If heavy silk goods appeal to the buyer, there is always one consolation in the fact that if they fade they can always be "dipped" and so made to look like new.

ODD and INTERESTING FACTS

Hawaii became a part of the United States twenty-five years ago.

In 1845 the postal rate in the United States was five cents for a letter carried less than three miles and ten cents for greater distances.

In 1871 a house on Wall street with its lot, 32x150 feet, was sold for $350, and two 25-foot lots on Broadway brought $298.

"Not so very long ago, in a geologic sense," says a United States Geological Survey bulletin, "the Hudson River flowed through a deep canyon or gorge at New York City. Soundings show that this gorge extends through New York Harbor and far out to sea."

Absolute zero is the temperature that a body would have if it were deprived of heat, and this temperature is the same for all material substances. On the absolute centigrade scale the temperature of absolute zero is approximately 273.16 degrees below the freezing point of water.

Suddenly Peter Entered.

Then followed the miracle which Peter performed in raising Dorcas from the dead.

This short story ends with the sentence commenting on her resurrection:

"And it was known throughout Joppa; and many believed in the Lord."

This episode occurred nearly two thousand years ago, but the force of this woman's character is still felt. Because all over the world, since that time, groups of women have met and sewed with their own hands making garments to cover the poor. And they have banded together under the name of the Dorcas Society.

Dorcas would necessarily have been loved and honored for the splendid life she led after her conversion to Christianity and for the real help she gave to others around her. But it would be interesting to know just how many of thousands of poor have been saved from suffering on account of the many women who have worked and sewed as a result of following the example of this noble woman of early Christian times. And as her name has come down to us with double value—not only for her life but for the influence which that life exerted for centuries after her death.

HERE'S WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT TANLAC

"If it had not been for Tanlac I would still be a sick, discouraged woman, for nothing else seemed to do me any good," says Mrs. Edward Gibbs.

All the advertising in the world and all the sales efforts combined could not have made the great success for TANLAC that has been attained, unless this reconstructive tonic possessed merit of the greatest degree. Over 40 million bottles of Tanlac have been sold and the demand today is greater than ever before.

That TANLAC possesses merit and has brought relief to hundreds of thousands of persons is attested by the great number of testimonials that have been received by the company from people in every state of the Union and every province of Canada. There are over 100,000 such statements on file with the company, all ringing with sincere praise for TANLAC and what it has accomplished.

Here are excerpts from a few of the 100,000 statements on file:

Mrs. Edward Gibbs, Lancaster, Pa.: "For 2 years indigestion deprived me of nearly all the pleasure of living. If it had not been for TANLAC I would still be a sick and discouraged woman, for nothing else seemed to do me any good."

Mrs. Mary A. Benson, Seattle, Wash.: "Following an operation my stomach and nerves seemed to give way and I became almost helpless. As a last resort I tried TANLAC. I began to improve from the very first."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 40 million bottles sold. Accept no substitute.

A HANDY FLOUR

With a score of household uses

IF SELF-RISING flour were used for no other purpose than for making light, tasty biscuits you couldn't afford to be without it. But that isn't all. Every day thousands of excellent cooks are delighted at many new uses they find for it.

"I always use self-rising flour in making biscuits, meat pie paste, dumplings, muffins, noodles, as a part of the dry mixture in corn bread, and all kinds of hot breads and casseroles," writes one enterprising housewife. "Odd bits of unsweetened dough I cut in triangles, pop them into the oven, bake a rich brown and serve with soups and broths. . . . I've never experienced an absolute failure when using self-rising flour. It also saves time, material, steps and temper."

You can always feel sure that everything you bake with self-rising flour is tasteful, wholesome and healthful. It contains pure phosphate baking powder in just the right proportions to make every baking fluffy and appetizing.

FOLLOW THESE FIVE RULES For Making Perfect Biscuits with Self-Rising Flour. (1) Be sure that your oven is hot; (2) Always use sweet milk or cold water; (3) Never add baking powder, soda or salt; (4) Use good shortening—lard, vegetable fat or butter; (5) Make soft dough—bake quickly.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

APPLICANTS FOR INSURANCE OFTEN REJECTED

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

AUSTINVILLE MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The ladies of the Austinville Methodist society met on Monday afternoon at the church.

The devotional for the afternoon was led by Mrs. Lawson Pepper after which routine and other business was taken up. It was decided to hold cottage prayer meetings for two weeks preceding the meeting to take place beginning Sunday, March 22nd. The fund for the purchase of the shingles to cover the parsonage is gradually growing, nine dollars having been added by the sale of the quilts that were patched on Friday when the society was entertained at an all day quilting party at the home of their president, Mrs. W. B. Robertson.

A program on "The Itinerant Campaign" was conducted by Mrs. W. B. Robertson after which the meeting closed with prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Collier have returned from a visit to relatives in points in Mississippi, and are at home with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nichols on the Somerville pike.

Mrs. Victoria Wagner, Mrs. E. J. Wagner and son, E. J. Jr., of Chicago, Ill., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Flemmons and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dodd.

Mizpah Chapter No. 19 O. E. S. will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crawford spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Chase at Chase, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Shelton are spending this week with Dr. and Mrs. W. K. Shedd in Columbia, Tenn.

Mrs. Will Wyker and her sister, Mrs. Mahon Long, of Pulaski, Tenn., who has been visiting her, left this morning for a shopping visit to Nashville.

Thomas Bailey is ill with chicken pox at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Z. Bailey on Sherman street.

Much Produce Is Shipped by Firm

The Rambo produce company, which recently launched an advertising campaign for more poultry and other farm products, found it paid the firm well for during the past week the company was enabled to ship two cars of eggs and five cars of poultry.

G. C. Whaley, of Trinity, route one, won the $5.00 offered for the one bringing in the greatest number of hens. Mr. Whaley brought in 138 hens.

Judge Holloway Dead at Capital

A telegram was received here this morning by T. M. Dix, announcing the death of Judge J. Lee Holloway at his home in Montgomery and that funeral services for the deceased will be held in Montgomery on Wednesday.

Judge Holloway was well known here, especially among the members of the Knights of Pythias, he having visited here often while Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Alabama. Judge Holloway was a member of the national supreme council of Pythians. He was Judge of the Alabama Court of Montgomery County at the time of his death.

PERSONALS

James Massey of Vina, spent the weekend with friends in Decatur.

Henry Sherrill of Birmingham spent the weekend here.

G. E. Upton spent Sunday in Sheffield.

J. L. Calhoun and Lon Anderson, of Sheffield were in Decatur on Monday on business.

Edward Thompson is confined to his bed with an attack of rheumatism at his home on 5th avenue West.

J. R. Daniell is in Brainbridge, Ga. on business.

George Adams, popular conductor on the Pan-American, is slowly improving from a severe illness.

Goat Hogs Attract Much interest Here

Two strange animals were on Moulton street near Sively and Sandlin lately the property of J. C. Chandler and S. B. Chandler, two cousins who live on the Martin farm in Limestone County just across the Tennessee river from Albany and Decatur.

The animals are the offspring of a Jersey Red sow and a large brown hornless goat.

The "goat-hogs" were foaled in the late summer of 1923 and they are consequently about six months old. The animals were nourished by the sow mother and appear to be two feet long from nose to tail. They are about 15 inches high at the shoulders, but hind legs of the animals are considerably higher and appear much like the legs of a goat.

The tails of the animals appear to be misplaced and favor a goat's tail. In walking or running the hind legs of the animals "run stiff" as do the hind legs of a goat. The animals appear very much like ordinary hogs, except when a survey is taken of the hinder parts. The Messers. Chandler have one other of the strange prodigies at their home in Limestone County.

Pan Conductor Suffers a Stroke

Sidney Johnson, conductor on the Pan-American, was stricken by apoplexy at Nashville and his condition is very grave. Mr. Johnson resided here for many years before removing to Montgomery. Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tarpley of Tuscaloosa and Mrs. L. C. Reynolds of Clanton are at his bedside.

INDIANA PREPARING FOR PRIMARIES WITH
KU KLUX AN ISSUE

(Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS—The Ku Klux Klan issue in this state will have a bearing on the contests for state offices at the primary May 6, with certain gubernatorial candidates on both the republican and democratic tickets coming out openly, as opposed to the Klan; others keeping a significant silence on the issue, and with at least one candidate generally known to have the whole hearted support of the followers of the fiery cross.

In addition to this issue reduction of taxes, the bonus, elimination of unnecessary state offices, relief for the farmers, more local self government and a general policy of economy are urged in the various platforms.

At the present time, with five democrats and five republicans having announced their candidacy for governor and two others reported to be preparing to enter the contest, the presidential primary between President Coolidge and United States Senator Hiram Johnson is creating little interest. The democrats will have no presidential candidates on their ticket, it is stated.

Democratic candidates who have announced for governor are Dr. Carleton B. McCullock of Indianapolis, Joseph M. Cravens of Madison, Dale J. Crittenden of Anderson, Charles S. Batt of Terre Haute, and George R. Durgan of Lafayette. Henry A. Barnhart of Rochester is expected to announce his candidacy within a short time.

Mr. Durgan is the only democratic candidate for the executive position who has come out with a statement that he is opposed to the Ku Klux Klan.

The men who have announced themselves as candidates for the republican nomination for governor are Edward C. Toner of Anderson, Edgar Bush of Salem, Mayor Lew Shank of Indianapolis, Mayor Ora Davis of Terre Haute, and Edward Jackson, present secretary of state. Dr. Davis announces he will oppose the Klan.

A larger number of republican party leaders will be found supporting President Coolidge in his campaign in this state. John Moorman, northern Indiana republican leader, will be back of Hiram Johnson.

Five democrats who now are serving in congress at Washington have re-entered the fight to retain their places. They are William E. Wilson of Evansville, first district; Arthur Greenwood, Washington, Second District; Frank Gardner, Scottsburg, Third District; Harry C. Canfield, Batesville, Fourth District; and Samuel E. Cook of Huntington, Eleventh District.

Seven republican congressmen have announced their candidacy for re-nomination. They are R. N. Elliott, Connersville, sixth district; Merrill Moores, Indianapolis, Seventh District; Albert Vestal, Anderson, Eighth District; Fred Purnell, Attica, Ninth District; Will R. Wood, Lafayette, Tenth District; L. M. Fairfield, Angola, Twelfth District, and A. J. Hickory, Laporte, Thirteenth District.

A feature of the primary this year will be the entry of Miss Julia Landers Indianapolis, as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from the Seventh District. She is the first woman in Indiana to be a candidate for such an office, and the only woman to announce to date as a candidate for any office.

The republican state convention will be held at Indianapolis May 21 and 22, and the democratic state convention in the same city June 4 and 5.

A Million Dollars for New Telephone Plant in 1924

More than $1,407,000 will be expended for the construction of new plant and for additions and extensions to the Bell Telephone System in Alabama during 1924.

This is a continuation of our active construction programme and practically the entire sum is new money we have been able to secure for investment in the telephone business in Alabama.

The growing needs of Alabama will require an estimated addition of 6,700 new telephones. To accomplish this the telephone workers must handle 30,900 telephone stations during the year—an average of more than 2,580 per month.

More than $1,000,000 will be expended at the local telephone exchanges throughout the State and

COMPROMISE BILL

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 4—Adherence to the principles and provisions of the Mellon tax plan was reaffirmed by President Coolidge.

A direct inquiry as to whether the President would approve a compromise bill, brought the reply he could not say at this time whether he would veto or approve a hypothetical measure.

Mr. Coolidge's position, relatives to the tax legislation, remains exactly as outlined in his message to Congress declaring in favor of the Mellon plan. This was made clear at the white house in answer to inquiries made about compromise bill passed by the house.

The President hopes the Senate Finance Committee will report the Mellon bill with only such minor changes as will be considered advisable to make the measure effective.

SELLERS
Kitchen Table

Just as finely constructed, as handsomely finished, as are the famous Sellers Cabinets. And, like them, this desirable kitchen table has an enduring white enamel finish and a genuine white porcelain top, with a contrasting mottled edge.

This patented material will stand the hardest usage, without warping or chipping. It is also unaffected by acids. The top is put on without screws.

The Sellers Table has a large drawer, divided into compartments, and a sparkling glass knob.

It is quite moderately priced.

Schimmel &
HunterNew York
Letter

NEW YORK, March 4—Warnings are being issued to the delegates coming here for the democratic national convention, not of our city's wickedness, but of its innocence. Stories are afloat that already a number of sharp gentlemen who live by their wits expect to make small fortunes during the convention by thrilling thousands of visitors with "limpsies of supposedly dangerous criminal life at so much a head. They plan to create an underworld that doesn't exist. Imitation opium dens, gunmen, ladies and numerous other exciting corners outside the law are being rigged up to give every evidence of being high spots of the underworld world. The Chinese colony has appealed to the mayor about the way fakers, even in ordinary times, are giving Chinatown a black eye by inventing tales of crime, pointing out spots where murders were alleged to take place, and describing innocent tea houses as opium clubs. It seems a human impulse to be interested in wickedness, especially when in New York, and there is frank acknowledgment of this in the words of the Police Commissioner who states that "anybody caught faking opium dens will be prosecuted for obtaining money under false pretenses."

Here is an interesting explanation of why the art of landscape painting was left almost entirely to the masters. Royal Cortissoz, art critic, declaring George Innes, the greatest landscape painter of all time, called the attention of art lovers to the barrenness of the old masters in respect to accurate, realistic representations of nature. As time advanced, a contact with realistic detail began to develop, until in modern times we have the real masterpieces of the age in the depiction of nature. "This is partly because painting began as the servant of the church," Mr. Cortissoz said, "and so Madonnas and saints established the standard of painting portraits and human beings rather than trees and hills." That, of course, we have all realized, but he added, "Another reason was that the artists, like other people, kept clear of the forests and open places for fear of wolves. People lived in huddled centers and seldom ventured into the country. It was too dangerous for them to live or even know."

We are certainly going far enough these days in keeping close to nature in other fields than art. Here is this supposedly effete city, there is a club of 22 men and women, all over fifty, who go out to Van Cortland Park and run races in the snow, barefooted, everytime there is any snow to run in. It is supposed to prevent their growing old. If youth is worth all that, I suppose it is a praiseworthy effort.

There can be no doubt about humanity's good nature. American humanity, at least. Among our greatest theatrical successes of the past three seasons have been satires on all of us. They have been kindly satires for the most part, but they served to make us pretty absurd, if nothing worse. The latest of them is "The Show Off" which is one of the most popular comedians in town from the cleverness of its laughter at very frequently met persons. It is by George Kelly and the part of "The Show Off" is splendidly played by Louis John Dartels.

Miss Marie Ryan of Brooklyn, is the only woman manufacturer of paints in the world, and she didn't inherit the business, but worked it up herself. Not only that, but it has come out that Miss Ryan is really the heroine of "The Clinging Vine," a play of a business woman who learned that it was wise not to be too severely businesslike outside of business hours.

Men are not always to blame when engagements are broken. Seth Gill came to New York the other day to propose marriage once more to a girl then suing him for breach of promise to the extent of $100,000. The next day he travelled all the way home again without her promise and with a swollen face and a generally unpleasant memory of the puzzling way a man is treated in this city. The girl says he struck her first; he maintains that is manifestly absurd inasmuch as he came on an errand of peace and courtship. Anyway, after she struck him, in return or in the first place, she had him arrested. When Gill assured the magistrate that he would still like to marry his fiance, the judge was so impressed with his patience, at least, that he discharged him.

Builders Sought
for Schoolhouse

Superintendent of education for Morgan County, E. L. Hayes, of Hartville, is searching for contractors who will build at once, the proposed new $25,000 school building at Falkville. Prof. Hayes is also seeking builders for a $4,000 school house to stand on the public road between Hartville and Danville.

Prof. Hayes stated that the money was all ready to pay for the buildings except a small percentage, and that by the time it was due to be paid all money would be ready.

The Falkville school will be constructed of shale tile, and the tiles are to be sent up from Birmingham, the educator explaining that the tiling made here was not of the color to suit the building committee.

Much of English History

Made in Downing Street
LONDON—Ramsay MacDonald is the 50th prime minister to take up his residence at 10 Downing street in the 189 years the building has been the official residence of the head of the government. The historic structure was the residence of Lord Litchfield until George I took possession of it. He presented it as the official residence in perpetuity of the first lord of the treasury.

Sir Robert Walpole was the first occupant but several premiers did not live there, some preferring to live in their own private homes. However, all held their cabinet councils there and more history has been made in the council room at 10 Downing street than in any other building in the country. Downing Street takes its name from Sir George Downing, a member of parliament in Cromwell's time.

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Gentlemen:
Your "Garnished Bran," used by me as a cereal, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple. Yours truly,
Arlington H. Carman,
Patchogue, N. Y.

Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.
